By the arrival of the A. S. N. Co.'s, steamship Alexandra, which entered port on Saturday foreneou from Brisbane, we have English news by the E. and A. Co.'s steamship Brisbane, now in quarantine, up to the 2nd of February. The following items are extracted from the

STORMS AND FLOODS IN ENGLAND.

Severe storms and floods occurred in England at the end of January, attended with loss of life. The following are some of the particulars:—

A shocking accident occurred at Lett's Wharf, Commercial Read, Lambeth, where a new building is in the course of erection for the City Dust-yurd. Nearly 106 men were at work on the spot, when a frightful crash was heard, and the building came tumbling down upon the men, four of whom, it is stated, were killed at once. In a very few minutes a great number of the wharf-labourers were on the spot, attracted by the crush and the shricks of the wounded, and the parsons who were builed in the ruins were extricated, when it was found that thirteen of them were seriously injured. They were relient to St. Thouma's Hospital in advant the coroner's inquest. The building is supposed to have been weakened by the gale, and to have succumbed to a sudden gust of wind.

Another accident was caused by the high wind, the roof of a house in Wilson's-court, Wilson-street, Gray's Inn. Read, was blown in, and several of the people in the house were severely hurt. Four persons were taken out so nuch injured that they had to be taken to the Royal Free Hospital, and one of them, an aged woman, is not expected to recover.

The gale proves to have been very severe in most parts appear very gloomy in the face of a probable continuance of wet weather.

Baybury, February 1.—Yesterday afternoon and all last night the min fell in torrents in this neighbourhood, and a rered ded of land in the Cherwell valley is submerged. At King's Sutton and Aynhoe the floods are very severe, and there is evidently more water to come down the Cherwell and its tributaries, the rain last night being very general. At Warmington, Warwickshire, a tree was uprooted, and its descent killed a valuable cow. The telegraph wires at Fepny Compton and Hook Norton were broken in consequence of uprooted trees having fallen acrest them.

Aberystwith, January 30.—A very high tide, with a terrific gale from the north-west, has done much damage to the northern end of the Marine terrace. The extended sea wall has given way at the centre bastion, and the readway for the length of the gap (nearly 100 feed) has been washed away down to the sower ripes and to within six foot of Brighton House (Rev. E. N. Grimley). Some of the houses in Victoria-terrace are more or less damaged and inundated.

RUSSIAN PLANS.

The Berlin correspondent of the Times says:—After much hesitation, a peculiar plan seems to larve been determined upon at St. Petersburg. The present state of things, which is neither peace nor war, is to be indefinitely prolonged. Not carine to fight the Turkish troops in their nuesent condition, yet both to abandon the campaign which opens so well, Russia is fain to adopt an ingenious expedient. Trusting she can better afford the strain of prolonged mobilization than Turkey, Russia will keep her troops on the frontier, thus compaling Turkay to do the like. If Turkey imitates the Russian example, her finances are expected to give way and her people to clamour for peace at any price before many monaths are over; whereas if, to obviate this calamity, Turkey takes the desperate step of anticipating the Russian attack, the Russians, who would then fight in their own country and on exceptily-prepared fields, are sufficiently confident of victory. To exercise redoubled pressure upon Turkey, the Pruth will probably be crossed, if not now, it least at a later stage. As to the Danube, it is not likely to be taken in hand before the fighting capacity of Turkey has been sensibly diminished by delay. With a view to those contingencies the Russian army in Bossabaria is continually increased, while all the South Russian fortrosses are being made ready for defence. In these circumstances Turkey thinks it necessary-to ask for guarantees against Servia taking part in a possible resumption of hostilities.

THE HEALTH OF THE POPE.

for guarantees against Servia taking part in a possible resumption of hestilities.

THE HEALTH OF THE POPE.

The Lancet's Roman correspondent writee:—Like the majority of Romans, the Pope has suffered greatly from the actreme full of temperature. On the 24th ultimo, while giving an audience, he lahoufed so evidently under catarrh with hearseness, amounting at times to positive aphonia, that Cardinal Billio begged him to withdraw to his apartments. This the Pope did, and Dr. Coccarelli, who saw him shortly afterwards, counselled him to keep whis bed till the symptoms had abated. Next morning, however, he rose, said mass, and cave an audience, but had again to take to hed shortly after 3 o'clock. The cough continued to harnas him, and, on two occasions since, in attempting to receive visitors, the cerebral congestion induced by the couphing brought on a fit of vertigo with unconsciousness, which necessitated his withdrawal to his apartments. There, however, he continued to transact business, and had audiences of Cardinal Simeoni, his Secretary of State. Ho is now restored to his usual health, and has given orders for the reception of the French pilgrims who have came to Rome expressly to do him homage.

THE CHINESE EMBASSY.

The Chinese Embassy, under their Excelloncies the Minister Kuo Sung-Tao and the Assistant Minister Liu Hsi-hung, with seven secretarics, attachés, interpreters, and twenty-two attendants, arrived at Southampton by the Peninsular and Oriental steamer Peshawur, and proceeded to London by special train. The Embassy, was accompanied by Dr. Macartney, of the Nauking Arsenal, who acts as Emplish Secretary. Mr. Hillier, of her Majesty's Consular Service in China, who accompanied the Embasya af are advandria, and them proceeded their Excellencies overland, was delegated by the Foreign Office to meet them at Southampton and Service in China, who accompanied the Embasya af are advandria, and them proceeded to the Bubasya as a resultant proceeded to the Minister Excellencies overland, was delegated by t

A CURIOUS INCIDENT.—A cow died very suddenly last week at the Adelong Crossing, and its owner (says the Guadana, Times), determining to aspertain if possible the cause, had the bedy opened, and found in the gut of the boast nearly a bucket full of sund. He is evident that in the search of grass the poor brute had likeded up the earth and send, and no caused its death.

This was carried near con. The Rev. R. H. Parr, Vicar of St. Martin's, proposed,—"That this branch, without expressing any approval of the ritual adopted by Mr. Tooth, deeply sympathises with him and his congregation in the sufferings which they are enduring, while contending for the Church's constitutional right." This was seconded by Mr. R. Johnson, and supported by the Rev. Julian Tuck, of Ebberston, and also carried. Some menters have left the society owing to the Union's action in this matter, but new members joined on this occasion. At Bristol Earl Nelson, vice president of the English Church Union, delivered an address upon Church unity. Referring to Mr. Tooth's case, he said that although they might feel warmly and sympathies deeply, he did not believe the pesition was so dark as some believed, and, at all events, he urged them to be careful not to give up the Church of England as an Established and United Church. Subsequent speaters, including some of the prominent lay and clerical Ritualists of Erickly, did not agree with this sentiment. They thought that if such "persecutions" as that of Mr. Tooth were to be sanctioned by the law of the land the some the Church was discatablished the better. Choers were called for Mr. Tooth, who was described as "a marryr, and cerical for the continuous contin suffering in Horsenionger-lane gno! for consciences sake; "and were enthusiastically given by the large audience, although there were some expressions of dissent."

There were a number of mon at work in the mine at the time, and the bulk of them succeeded in effecting their escape; but eighteen men and boys who were working some distance beyond the fire, unhappily perished. Immense quantities of water were thrown into the celliery, but it was not until Thursday that the fire vary subdued, when Mr. Dickinsen, Government inspector, and his deputy, descended the pit, and in the cause of their exploration and the ground with their hands clapped as if in prayer. Others were seated on the waggon-way, and had apparently awaited death with compoure, while others again were lying on their faces with their fingers deeply embedded in the carth, testifying to the desperate efforts they had made to cruwl out of the suffocating suocke. Mr. Dickinson states that if these poor fellows could only have managed to have print in the pit had been found with the state of the subdish laws been a haven of safety. The flow of water into the pit was atopoped, and about 7 o'clock the whole of the bodies were conveyed to the pit's eye, placed in tubs, and covered with shocks randy for removal. A party of gentlomen visited Harris's collieries, Quaker's-yard, Gismorganshire, where the shaft is being sunk to a very great depth. Mr. G. Brogdan, brother of Mr. Brogden, M.P., and Mr. Biggs, mining engineer, were being drawn up in one of the buckets when the winder failed to stop it in time, and it came with great force against the beam at the top of the colliery. Mr. Biggs was crushed and died tunnediately; Mr. Brogden was injured, but not veer seriously.

or sea, of horned cattle and sheep coming from Germany, England, Russia, Austria, or Turkey.

In consequence of the further extension of cattle plague in Germany, the Privy Council on Saturday passed an order prohibiting the importation from Germany and Belgium of cattle, fat, hay (not used in packing), fresh hides, hoirns, hoofs, manure (not artificial), and fresh meat.

The chief constable of Cheshire has received intelligence of the breaking out of the foot-and-mouth disease in a virulent form in the herd of Mr. Farish, breeder and stock feeder, of Kingsley Park, near Frodsham. During the past few days it has been assertained that seventeen or eighteen cows on this extato are affected with the disease. None of the diseased stock have been removed from their shippons since October last, and beyond five pigs, which were bought at Warrington Fair in December, no fresh stock have been imported. Every endeavour has been made to prevent the further spread of the disease by the complete isolation of the animals affected.

With references to the changes which have recently taken place in the Veterinary Department of the Privy Council Office, we understand that the office of secretary, veasted by the retirement of Dr. Williams, will not be filled up. Professor Brown has been appointed professional officer of the department, and will deal with all questions relating to disease and to the inspection and tunnel of animals under the immediate direction of the Privy Council.

A Reater's telegram from Copenhagen says that the Minister of War has taken measures to have the Custom House guard on the frontier between Denmark and Sleswick strengthened by milliary force should the cattle plague approach Danish territory.

A SHIP DESTROYED BY LIGHTNING. A SHIP DESTROYED BY LIGHTNING. News has been received in Liverpool of the destruction of the American ship Dakota through being set on fire at sea by lightning. She was a new ship of some 1400 tons register, and was on a voyago from New Orleans to Liver-pool with a cargo of cotton and several passengers. On the 7th January she was struck by lightning and set on fire. All efforts to put out the fire failed, and the crew and passengers were obliged to take to the boats in a heavy sea. They succeeded in getting clear of the ship without accident, and after being two days and nights in open boats, they were picked up by the German brig Hedwig, Captain Kreff, and landed at Fayal.

DISCOVERY OF BODIES.

Seven dead bodies were discovered on the premises of an undertaker named Henney, living in the Regent's Park Road, near the Chalk Farm Railway Station. For some time past the neighbours liave complained of unploasant smells, which it was supposed came from an adjacent fishmonger's shop, and several of the children in an infant school connected with the Church of St. Mary the Virgin, Printrose Hill, have been obliged to go home from illness and nausea. At the rear of Henney's promises is a stable used by a cab proprieter, and a man employed at the stable found at the oud of the building, in a hollow, a box, which on being opened was found to centain the body of a child between two and three years old. Further search in the loft and other places led to the discovery of seven bodies in a decomposed state and beyond identification. DISCOVERY OF BODIES.

THE HATCHAM CASE.

THE HATCHAM CASE.

A largo meeting of parishioners and members of the congregation of St. James's, Hatcham, was held under the auspices of the Hatcham Defence Committee, at the National Schools, on Wednesday evening. Mr. Croom, the senior cluurchwarden, took the chair, and, was supported by Mr. Plimpton, the parish warden, and sales by many influential parishioners. It was resolved, on the motion of Messra. D. P. Waters and J. Turner, that the following letter be sent to the Rev. Richard Chambers, signed by the chairman on behalf of the meeting:—"Wo, the members of the congregation of the church of St. James's, Hatcham, in the counties of Kent and Surrey, in meeting assembled, hereby deeply deplore your assumption of a cure of souls and intervention in city. The writer, dating from Damascus on 9th January, says:—

"In the Mahomedan circle of this city there are at present strange ongoings. The excitoment and frenzy are indescribable. Everybody is crying out to be sent to the seat of war. This humour is due solely and entirely to the Turkish childicals, who affully feed the fanuaticism of the masses with the idea that Islam is threatened by the Christians, in order that the Government may obtain from the Mahomedan population those heavy sacrifices which the ceaseless calls upon them and constant recruitings that are going on demand. This appeal to fauntical passions has had the most perfect success. All who are fit to bear arms offer thouselves for service. Every day we see, in front of the Government House, great processions with music and large at their head demanding arms and crying out to be led to war for their country and their faith. The covernor general. Nealth Packs, and the commandant of the army corps of Syria, Izzet Pacha, have to take reckening of these streams of warlike people, and to cause enrolment lists for the national militia to be made. On one day no fewer than 49 ulemas, upwards of 200 Government officials, and a still greater number of the inhabitants of this city were enrolled. streams of wartine people, and to cause caroliment lists for the national militis to be made. On one day no fewer than 49 ulemas, upwards of 200 Government officials, and a still greater number of the inlabitants of this city were enrolled. The excitement has reached such dimensions that for some days all the Mahomedans of the city have foresken their occupations in order to devote themselves exclusively to military service. The great evil of this is that these improvised soldiers retain the weapons which are given to their occupations in order to devote themselves exclusively to military service. The great evil of this is that these improvised soldiers retain the weapons which are given to them, which for the Christians of the town is a cause of great anxiety, remembering as they do the year 1865. This reneral arming in connection with the great faunticism on behalf of the Mahomedans of other parts of the Empire, for which the Mahomedans of other parts of the Empire, for which the Mahomedans of this quarter are quite distinguished, may lead to serious consequences for the Christian element of the population. The impulse given by the officials may lead to awkward results, and they may have yet some day to regret it. During the past week our fears were almost realised. Dark rumours were circulating through the whole town; the Mahomedan mob spoke loudly of an impending massacre of the Christians; the latter were insulted over-where in the streets; in a word, the panic was general. The Christians took refuge in their own quarter, and did not venture to go out. Then the orthodox Patriarch of Antiboth, who is resident here, plucked up countre, and along with the other spiritual heads, took congretic steps with the military and civil authorities of the vilayet. This intervention came in the nick of time, and had a good result. Nachid Pacha immediately forbade the nightly meetings in the eafes, and communicated instructions to the monkharts and immune of the various quarters to remove, by their advice and admonitions, spirited matters in this patish. We regret that, forgethind; your devotion. We kever good reason to thank ye. You are opinional reliable and of that which we would have himself and the patish. THE TURKISH REFORMS.

The Daily Telegraph publishes the following information from its correspondent at Pera:

The Turkish Parliament is fixed to meet on the 1st of March. Already many delegates of the Lower House have been elected, a large proportion of them being Christians Of course some difficulty is met with on account of the ignorance and inexperience of the rural pepalation, which has to be educated in the method of parliamentary representation. A provisional law has therefore been promulgations. A provisional law has therefore been promulgations. A provisional law has therefore been promulgated, directing the mode of carrying out the present elections. Meanwhile, five special commissions are at work of the preparation of bills for the sanction of the forthcoming-Parliament bearing upon details in the Constitution and the muchinery for establishing it. The list of senators for the Upper Chamber is now almost completed, and will shortly be published, while the building intended for the sessions of the Parliament is nearly ready. It was formerly the University, standing near at hand to the Merque of Santa Sophia.

After full consideration, the Porte has resolved to carry into execution of its own accord most of the points proposed in the Conference. Among these are the formation of cautions conflaining about 10,000 inhabitants, the introducmost important measure, striking deeply at the root of the troubles of Turkey. A ropiv is awaited from France; respecting the anolication for officials to organise a gendarmeric. The Turks larve asked for two Frence majors and

SNOW STORM IN AMERICA.

"An American" writes from 32, Great St. Helen's, on the unprecedented weather lately experienced in the United States. He says:—"Some idea of the weither may be gathered from details respecting the snow blockade upon the various railroads. It is estimated that between Bostom and the West—Chicago, &c. — there have been at least 10,000 tons of merchandise blocked up at various points. On one single line alone more than 60 miles of freight care have been standing still waiting for the snow to than. Between Buffalo and New York, 8000 goods cars have been shanded off on to the sidings, the min lines being impassable through the snow. In Vermont, New Hampshire, and Meine, the snow had to proceed to political engagements through 2 feet of snow. This unusual experience in the city named has been nearly equalled by deep falls of snow in several of the Southern States. The oldest inhabitants in many of these, as well as dwellers in the Northern portions of the country, cannot remember such cold weather as lately passed through in the United States."

In fact the latter have already promised 5000 troopers, which, looking to the splandid equestrian qualities of these monad tribes, is a considerable gain."

AN OTTOMAN WAR CRY.

The Prussian Correspondent of the Times, writing from Berlin, on January 20, says:—

What the roading portion of the Mahomedan public think of the Conference may be gathered from an article published by the Constantinoph journal Hihad, and reprinted lished by the Constantinoph journal Hihad, and reprinted the name opinion, it deserves to be quoted, after the many glowing offusions we have had in the Russian Press:—

"Gallant warriors, fighting brothers, welcome! From the depth of our heart we congratulate you upon victoris in field of glory. May God sharpen your swords! You have avenged the injuries of your country, and by your heroisan astonished the malicious foo. All Ottomans are delighted with your deeds, and Allah is gratified at what you have done. MONDAY, APRIL 2, 1877.

Ir must be obvious to every one that the question of suburban railways is daily rising in importance, and requires to be fairly faced. Till lately, it was the habit of some politicians to treat the city question as altogether subordinate to the country question, and to deny all claims for any further railway extension until the country districts had been adequately accommodated. But, admitting to the full the importance of extending the railways into the country in all directions where trunk lines are really wanted, it must be obvious to any one who will fairly consider the question that the claims of the city are fully equal to any country claims that can possibly be advanced. One-fourth of the whole population of the country is now gathered around the metropolis, and the ratio of increase in the metropolis is far greater than the ratio of increase in any place in the country, or of the whole of the country taken together We are very far from desiring to enc urage the spirit of localism, but we are bound to say that nowhere is that spirit less displayed than in the metropolis, and on the whole the metropolis has had rather less than more of its fair share of consideration.

Sydney is built on a site admirably adapted for the location of a great city. Unfortunately the first planning of its streets was not of the best, and in its early days its destiny was not foreseen. But there is no excuse now for not forecasting the future. It is as clear as noon-day what is to be the ultimate destiny of this metropolis. Everything points to the fact that it will be the chief city of Australia. Owing to the precipitated development which it gold-fields gave it, Melbourne has run ahead, but the old fable of the hare and the tortoise will be repeated here, and slow and steady will win the race at last. Its central position, its maritime facilities, its inexhaustible supply of coal, its geographical position as regards America, Polynesia, and Asia, and its immense back territory, must inevitably in time secure it the premier position. Its inhabitants may be indolent and unenterprising, intent on their own business, and without civic pride or patriotic emulation; but events will be stronger than themselves, and their city will by sheer force of circumstances be forced into pre-eminence.

It is impossible for any one to travel round the suburbs of Sydney and not see the enormous increase of population that has been taking place within the last three years. This has happened with the minimum of Government: immigration. Where the people have all come from, what they are doing, what they are proposing to do, may be known to thembeen forced to the resource of omnibus traffic :. but though that traffic has been organised in the hands of one or two public companies, and though it is now much better conducted than it was formerly, it is obviously unequal. not only to the ordinary business of each day, but still more unequal to the extraordinar business of public holidays or public festivals. In America and in England there is no city of equal size that has not better facilities for traffic than Sydney has, and it is quite time that the question of city and suburban traffic were fairly studied. It is easy to see how much better matters could een managed if we had to begin de novo, but it is useless to cry over spilt milk. Practical people do not waste time in .wishing that the past were undone, they devote themselves to the immediate consideration of what it is best to do at present. If the past is cone, the future is our own, and if we cannot remove the ground for past regrets we can at least save future regrets.

That something should be done, almost everybody admits; but there is a difference of opinion as to what should be done, and by whom it should be done. Some are for tramways in the streets, some for over-head railways, some for underground railways, ome are for private competition to have its fair fling, and some call upon the Government, as the princ p l railway owner, to extend its present system. That there is scope for private enterprise — and profitable private enterprise — we feel quite assured; but, at the same time, it is probable that speculators would deal simply with one or two of the present most profitable lines, and would leave the future to take care of in all its bearings, ought to be taken into a and nothing is more costly than coming It these are the very people who stand aloof to a hasty and erroneous conclusion. And im politics with affected disdain and conthough it is quite true that every Minister tapt. The very fact that they can make ought to be perfection in his department, ought to know everything and do everything that is right, still as a matter of fact our inhaisters are very human, and therefore very imperfact; and, what is more, they are frequently changing. They have great trouble to get into office, they have very great trouble to get into office, they have very great trouble to get into office, they have very great trouble affairs it flay were let alone, has to be given to conciliating opponents, to keeping up the confidence of supporters, to the study of Parliamentary tractics. While fighting for office, departmental duties, if they can possibly be put off, must necessarily drop into carrears. Moreover, every Minister is necessarily very largely at the mercy of his advisers; and there is always a tendency in Government officials to get into ruits, to contact prejudices, to be obstinate about their own offinious, and retures a flat would superform the first own offinious, and reture a fair consideration to proposals that would superfect they would just' now be very va'unble to seed their own. This is just the state of things that justifies a Commission. If the Government, travelling outside the efficial circle and the Parliamentary circle, could and the Parliamentary circle, could be used to be a standard too high for a small community like this. It cannot be flowernment, travelling outside the efficial circle and the Parliamentary circle, could be covernment, travelling outside the efficial circle and the Parliamentary circle, could be covernment, travelling outside the efficial circle and the Parliamentary circle, could be covernment, travelling outside the efficial circle and the Parliamentary circle, could be covernment, travelling outside the efficial circle and the Parliamentary circle, could be covernment, travelling outside the efficial circle and the Parliamentary circle, could be covernment, travelling outside the efficial circle and the Parliamentary circle, could be covernment, travelling outside the efficial circle and the Parliamentary circle, could be covernment, the world of the proposed that many Grant proposed the travelling of the proposed Ministers are very human, and therefore very imperfect; and, what is more, they are freprospective put before us, and an intelligent plan proposed such as would meet present mergencies, and such as carried out gradually would meet coming requirements.

It would be very desirable in such an aquiry to include the question of public nquiry, to include reserves. In and close to the city there are several very valuable open spaces, but in the suburbs there are very few. As matters are now progressing, every bit of land is being rapidly chopped up into allotments, and soon there will be no longer the possibility of parks for the people outside the city. This is just to seek the men. Because they are true the time when this question should be fairly men, the are sure to be modest, and will examined. The beauty and the salubrity of this metropolis, the present importance which is only a trifle compared to its future importance, requires that these questions should be looked at with all the gravity, all the wisdom, all the fairness, and all the enterprise we can bring to bear upon it. Although dealing with such a matter might not bring to the Administration any great political support, it is one which we think would really win the estimation of intelli-gent people, and redound greatly to their and would certainly insure them the thanks of posterity. Unfortunately, posterity has no present votes, and for that reason may get scant consideration. But a brave and large-minded man will ignore such consideration, and pride himself upon doing his duty to unborn generations.

THE purpose of representative government is not only to find out and send to Parliament the men who are best fitted for making laws and administering public affairs, but also to do this by the free suffrages of the people It follows that the people themselves should be made, as far as possible, competent judges of political fitness and ability, and should exercise their right of the franchise with purity and disinterestedness. If it be true that ncompetent or corrupt Ministries are the creation of incompetent or corrupt Parliaments, it is also true that incompetent or corrupt Parliaments are the creation of incompetent or corrupt constituencies. The stream is not likely to be purer than the fountain from which it flows. Electors who vote for one man in preference to another, merely for the sake of what they expect to get from him in the form of patronage, or some other indirect method of bribery, need not be surprised if the member, who can stoop to win his seat by such means, should think it perfectly legitimate selves, and can only be guessed at by others.

But it is an unmistakable fact that people are flocking to this metropolis, and that the price of land all around it has risen

Parliaments of the colony for the last twenty

Note that the power to grapple with difficulties, the determination to win success, and the capacity for self-government, whenever they care to price of land all around it has risen not gradually but by leaps and bounds. With years, like the successive Governments, may our hilly and narrow streets, we have hitherto have fallen far below public expectation, but they are what the people have made them, and to condemn one is to condemn the other. To have better Parliaments we must have better electorates, or the existing electorates must use their power with a more earnest and intelligent patriotism.

It would scarcely be believed, prior to investigation, what a large number of electors there are who care so little for political issues that they will not take the trouble to record their votes one way or another, even at the most exciting general election. Since the passing of the Electoral Act of 1858 the rela-Since the tive number of voters has been largely augmented. In 1856-7 the number on the rolls was 44,451, or 153 per cent. of the popu-lation at that date. For the year 1874-5 the number was, including the gold-fields, 163,949, or 28 per cent. of the population. Yet under the electoral provisions of the Constitution Act of 1855, almost every man of full legal age could obtain the franchise in one or other of its forms. There was a £100 freehold franchise with six months' possession; a six months £10 household franchise; with occupation; a £10 leasehold frau-chise with three years' currency, future or retrospective; a £100 salary franchise of six months' tenure ; a £40 b lodging franchise; a £10 lodger franchise, and a franchise for the pastoral licensees within the various electoral districts. All this was an awkward complication, and it was cer tainly simpler to adopt our present system of registered residential manhood suffrage, supplemented by a property qualifica-tion. As might be expected, the Electoral tion. Act of 1858 has largely increased the number of electors; but has it much increased the itself, and though that might postpone part number who actually vote? We are unable of the difficulty, that would not settle it. to give a comparison with previous years, but Before anything is done the whole subject, in for the last general election in 1874 a Farliamentary return shows that out of 60 electorfull and fair consideration. We have had a stes, 48 were contested, and for these contested great many Commissions lately, but we electorates with a total of 130,720 on the hardly know any one subject more thoroughly rolls, only 63,607 persons voted for all the deserving of a complete investigation than candidates who went to the poll. Making due that of suburban railways. Some objection allowance for absentees, it would appear by has been taken to Commissions on account of this Parliamentary return that in the sharpest their cost, and also on the constitutional contest only one-half of the electors on the ground that they case off the responsibility of Ministers. But the cost is nothing where the resulting benefit is very large, for nothing pays better than judicious inquiry, not worth using, it is scarcely worth having.

mey and live happily in the enjoyment of peopal liberty, religious equality, and every for of domestic and social felicity, proves by much they owe to the institutions of the tion. lore than half the population is nativeborn, and it is to be hoped that more than half the resthave chosen New South Wales as their hope for life. Amongst this number it is possib to find at least 73 men of average ability, acroughly honest, sincerely patriotic. fairly in lligent, and both able and willing to serve the country as faithfully and well as the najority of the 638 men who constitut the British House of Commons. It is the duty of the electors not obtrue themselves unsought upon their of fellow-citiens. In elections, as in so many other malers, it is always the case that "fools rus in where angels fear to tread." But the eletors will prove themselves fools too if theylo not show themselves capable of distinguising between the two. There is nother matter on this point worth attention. We have before noticed the intensely lock character of our representation, as affecting the conduct of members in Parliament. Upon whom does the blame of this rest bumpon the electorates themselves. When a member goes back to his constituency, if he cannot boast how much money he has extracted from Government to be spent within the boundaris of his electorate he is pretty sure to find a opponent asking "What has he done for thi district that we should return him to Parliment again?" Could anything be more calcuated to make political life a mere scramble for pblic money to be spent on local works to the utter sacrifice of the general ublic welfan? The return of a member to Parliament is rightly made to rest upon the conviction of a maj rity of the electors that he is a fitted proper person to represent them. Does is fitness consist in his power to extract mony from the public purse for the exclusive benefi of those whom he represents? Perhaps it will said that these lo are as much ageneral as a local benefit. Then let them b justified in that ground, and we shall get rid of the political immorality which is so unblushingly exhibited in nearly every eletion. The people of New South Wales, i is to be presumed, are very much like the average British stock from which theyspring. Difference of climate and other circumstances may eventually tell both upon their pysical and mental character, r ill; but they show no either for good r ill; but they show no falling off in the passionate love of freedom, people in the pas. THE WEATHER.—We are fortunately spared this year the anxiety and alarm that prevailed before last Easter on account of the drought that had then continued for so many months, and which bean to break up on Good Friday last year. The present season has been a very favourable one, so far as the coast districts are concerned, for they have never been for many veeks together all through the summer without having an occasional spell of wet weather. Many parts of the interior, however, have not fared so well, and in consequence the pastorulists have been in many instances put to the inconvenience of travelling their stock. Late advices from these localities afford intelligence that welcome raits have fallen pretty generally throughout the colony, so that there is every hope of there being a sufficiency of white feed for cattle and sheep. In Sydney the weather has been very unsettled for some time past, and the alternations of heat and cold, fine and showery weather, calm and windy, have been frequent and wery marked. During the last few days, the heat has increased considerably, Friday having been a thorough summer day. Towards evening there were indications of a thundersjorn, but it appeared to pass off towards the north, and we had but a slight rainfall, with vivid lightning, but the thunder evidently distant. During Friday night the rain was heavier and more constant, and the showers on Saturday morning were at times very heavy. The weather cleared up a little on Saturday aftermoon, but the evening again was showery. Yesterday was a fine day, though cloudy until towards evening. The night was beautifully fine, giving every promise of delightful weather for the holiday.

SYDNEY INFIRMARY.—The following cases have been received for treatment:—Charles Hot. cas; injury to the foet; John McGarrigle, injury to the hand; David Merrick, suffering from a scalp wound; Gorge Tipping, suffering from a wound on the head, the result of a fall; James O'Brien, who was bitten by a dog; James Jarvis, contused foot; John Gay, who had his elbow dislocated; Robert Murphy, who had received a severe cut on the forehead; Henry R. Curran, who had been injured in the shoulder; Michael Sheehy, suffering from lacerated fingers; Michael Kane, who had received a stab in the arm during a quarrel.

PEN AND INE DRAWINGS .- We had the opportunity PEN AND INE DRAWINGS.—We had the opportunity on Saturday of seeing at the studio of Mr. Sergeaut, photographer, Georgo-istrect, two pictures drawn in pen and ink, which are about the best of their kind ever exhibited, hereat any rate. There is about them an amount of faithful work, combining clearness with extreme delicacy of finish, which is rurely to be seen. The drawings are antirely done with common ink, and a usual writing (not a drawing) pen; and the fineness of the work is therefore the more noticeable. The two, which Mr. Sergeant has finished for the forthcoming Intercolonial Exhibition, are a likeness of the late Archbishop Polding, and a scene from "Gil Blas," the Post and the Players; the latter having taken up the artist's spare hours for about two months. Visitors to the present Exhibition of the Academy of Art will notice with approval there a very cleve drawing in pen and fask by Mr. Sergeant; and these other two ard quite equal in negit. As instances of industry and good work these plotures deserve high commendation, and will repay careful inspection.

Overcorowdens Public Conveyances, —Public holidays, as a rule, are made a vey good excuse for the proprietors of public conveyances to "make hay wiffle the sus shines," and replenish their profess by crowding their steamers to an extent that is reall, dangerous, and it is high time that the authorities stepped h and interfered. Late in the evening of last Anniversery Dyn report was circulated that the steamer Phantom, in consequence of being overcrowded, had capsized between the Leads, and it was not till the next morning, when the veport was contradicted, that the fears of the people were altread. It would be be late to cry out after some frightful recident has happened and the authorities will display their good management by taking this matter in hand at once, audillowing the steamer to entry only as many as they are licensed for. Tun Coming Exhibition.-On Saturday morning trom New York, whist the Intercalled at Melbourne to discharge a portion of her cargo. The goods by these vessels are not, however, all that are being forwarded from America as there are a number of makinges on board the San Francisco mail-boat, City of Sydney, which is now reveral days overduc. The means that were taken by our Government in giving this colony a good representation at Palindeiphia has done much to direct the attention of people on the other side of the Pacific to the importance of New South Wales amongst the Australias, and the consequence has been that Canada and America alone are sending to our Exhibition upwards of 1250 tons of goods; and considering that this is the first occasion upon which our American cousins have displayed their wares in Sydney in any quantity, they may be congratulated in having done so well, and it may be hoped that they will even do better in the future. It has already been mentioned that the management of the Agricultural Society have found it necessary, in order to meet the large demands for space, to erect an annexe, but even with this additional room there will be very little unoccupied ground space in the building. The entries have all filled up yell, and it is a anticipated that the Exhibition of this year to delive in many respects any of the former ones. The J. S. Stone is the name of another vessel that is hound expected with an additional installment of goods. The Escort, immediately on her arrival, was berthed alongside bibble wharf, and will commence discharging early this morning. Although a great deal of the work propuratory to the opening of the Show is in a forward state, there is still much to be done in the way of carting, fissing, entaloguing, &c., that will occupy some little time, but there is reason to believe that with judicious management and quick dispatch, the Exhibition will be ready for the opening day, the 10th April. Country people are already arriving in town in goodly numbers, and the Government and quick dispatch, the Exhibition, by m

Model Farm.—We are pleased to learn from the Glen Innes Examiner that a movement is on foot for getting up a price of £200 to be awarded to the proprietor of the best model farm of not less than 100 acres, within a radius of ten miles of Glen Innes. The price, which must be wen three years in succession, will form an item in next year's programme of the Glen Innes. Show. Mr. F. W. Long has taken the matter up, and he states that upwards of £30 has already been promised towards the object.

AN EXTRAORDINARY FATAL ACCIDENT .- A SINCELLE AN EXTRACEDINARY FARAL ACCIDENT.—A singular occurrence took place lately at Allen's Flat, Victoria. It appears that a young man named Bowran was chasing another young fellow annied Hodgson in sport. Hodgson's foot caught in some rushes, and he fell with great violence to the ground. He rolled over three or four times, and appeared to be suffering great pain. A doctor was sent for, but Hodgson gradually sank and died. There was no abrasion of the skin, but at the inquest held on the following day, it transpired that the soft ribs of the deceased had been that the suffering had your suffering head to the contract was earliered beginning and a suffering the liter and the unfortunate fellow died from internal hemorrhinge. The jury returned a verdiet of accidental death.

A NAHROW ESCAPE.—A correspondent, writing from Bowning to the Fass Courier, on Saturday last, states that James Clifford, who is in the cuploy of Mr. William Barber, narrowly escaped being nunsiled to death. It appears that while Clifford was attending the chaff-cutting machine his shirt was caught by a pin in the shaft of the implement, which so revolved him that all his clothing was torn to rags, and his life in imminent danger. His cries attracted attention, and a large number of men cance speedily to the rescue. They promptly relieved him from his perilous position, and, fortunately, he escaped with only a scratch on his shoulder.

APPRHENSION ON SERIOUS CHARGES.—Reliable information is said by the Courier to have been received in Yass that John Shaw, who in October last suddenly took his departure from Yass, has been apprehended by the police at Tarce, on a charge of horse-stealing. A wurrant, issued by the Windsor Bench, is also in the hands of the police for the accused's apprehension for passing a value-less cheque. There are a number of other charges of shraining money by falso pretence, as well as otherwise, which are not likely to be prosecuted. The accused was proprietor of the Yass Grummar School, and secretary of nearly every association or society existing in Yass at the time he disappeared. He is also murried, and loft his wife and family unprovided for. On his apprehension he gave the name of John Broughton Shaw.

Haydy's "Guragton,"—In speaking of the per-mad family improvided for. On his apprehension he gave the name of John Broughton Shaw.

HAYDN'S "CHRATTON."—In speaking of the performance on Good Friday evening of this cantorio we mentioned that there were portions of the rendering which might have been improved upon. The weak parts were undoubtedly the soles; and in these something better was expected than was given. Doubtless, a few of them—"On mighty pens," for instance—are exceedingly difficult; but for the most part the soles, ducts, and tries are not, so far as execution at least, or intricacy of structure are concerned, of that complicated character which takes some music out of the reach of ordinary vocalists. They certainly require a quality of voice and a delicacy and finish of singing which are quite as rare as great powers of execution; and it was in these respects that the performance on Good Friday vecting was defective. But the other parts of the oratorio redecimed these defects so far as they were capable of remedy. The choruses went, generally speaking, with remarkable precision; and the instrumentation was particularly good. Herr Dohler—although he is a little too demonstrative as a conductor, as we have before had occasion to point out—arranges the materials of his orchestra with great skill and judgment; and, as the performers themselves have considerable ability, the result is very gratifying. On Friday night the instruments sustained the voices well without committing the fault, unfortuately se common, of overpowering them. It is scarcely necessary to add that the class of music, only an expressive accompaniment to the voices, the more delicate and correct will their work be. Men have been heard ansging at the contribussi, and blowing into their trombones as if their lives depended on getting the great: t noise possible out of the powerful instrument. This fault is, we are glad to beserve, with the present conductor and with Herr Kretschmann as leader becoming conspicuous by its absence in the Sydney Musical Union, and ere long we hope

[FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.]

A MOST agreeable change has just taken place in the weather, in this district. The severe drought which has prevailed since November last, varied only by a single thunderstorm on January 1st, has at last given place to more endurable weather. On Sunday last rain set in steadily, heavy showers fell on Sunday last rain set in steadily, heavy showers fell on Sunday night, Monday night, and Tuesday. The ground seems well moistened to a depth of four or five inches; and the appearances go to show that more rain may be yet expected. The state of the country around can hardly be conceived, grass could nowhere be seen, and one could not walk out without encountering on all sides the decaying bodies of unimals which had dropped down in the lames or by the road sides from hunger or thirst. The atmosphere was so charged with foul smells that the wonder is that a good deal more of sickness did not prevail that was actually the case. Farmers were considerably hindered by the hard and dry nature of the soil from ploughing. Since the rain, however, all are busily at work turning over the ground for early sowing.

The present week is also the commencement of the grape harvest. The min of the last day or two will noticeable. [FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.]

turning over the ground for early sowing.

The present week is also the commencement of the grape harvest. The min of the last day or two will materially hasten on this event, and before next week grape picking will be in full swing in all the vineyards throughout the district. The grape crop was considered to be rather under the mark this senson, and the must was expected to be above the average in strength, but the heavy-down-pour-will considerably add to the, bulk of the wine-yield, and will at the same time, without doubt, deduct comewhat from its saccharine strength. Many small growers will be put to great inconvenience this year as there seems to be a lack of buyers of must. from its saccuarine will be put to great inconvenien to be a lack of buyers of must.

Bannorman was breutifully bowled by Hill for 10. Garrett and Blackham now got together. In: former got two square leghits off Shaw for four cach in succession. Blackham, who was in nice trim, scored 6, and then gave an easy each to Lillywhite at short leg. Kelly and Midwinter were now together, and after lunch the score, which was then 69, was increased to 96 before the pair were separated. Jupp kept wicket in place of Selby. Kelly got four off Shaw, and the two obtained runs pretty fast for singles around the wicket, neither losing an opportunity of scoring. Ulyett and Lillywhite replaced Shaw and Hill. The bowling was splendid, Hill being particularly on the wicket, and there was some excellent cricipet caribited by the two batsmen, who played most causansly, and, for a time, the scoring was very slow. Kelly was bowled by Ulyett, when he had made 19 and Spofforth succeeded him. He evidently went in for determination to hit, and was soon bowled for nil. Midwinter played fine cricicat throughout and scored. An a splendid innings without a chance. He was caught by Emment at mid-wicket, the ball being just taken of the ground. APPRENTICESHIP LAW. TO THE EDITOR OF THE HEMALD.

Sin,—Will you permit me to call the attention of "Studens" to the fact, evidently overlooked by him, that the section of law cited by him has no relevancy whatever to the question at issue before the Justices. The intention of the Logislature seems to be clear enough—manely, to give the master or mistress a remedy, after the expiration of the term of apprenticeship, for any loss sustained in consequence of the absconding or the unlawful absence of the apprenticeship during its currency; but the clause is so clumpily worded that, of are as I know or connecratin, it has invariably failed of its purpose whenever a master has attempted to avail himself-of its recreations.

A RACE WITH A TRAIN .- The Dunedis Guardian of A RACE WITH A TRAIN.—The Dunctica Guardian of March 19 says:—"A race for ten miles between a horseman and a locomotive is something rather unusual. The passengers by the afternoon train from Port Chalmers had the pleasure of witnessing such an event. As the train left the Port Chalmers pier a rider, well-mounted on a highly-metiled steed, was seen dashing through the township. As Duncedin was approached, the frequent stoppages enabled him to redeem lost ground, and also to give his horse an occasional spell. As Ravensbourne was reached, the utmost interest in the result of the race began to be manifested by the passengers, many of them encouraging the rider in his self-imposed task. Crossing Polichet Bay he was along-side the train, and as the tickets had to be collected at the station there, he must have reached the city some minutes before the train's arrival."

Drowned in a Dam.—On the 20th March, an inquest was commenced (says the Dubbo Dispatal), and on the 26th concluded, before Mr. Tibbits, J.P., cogogie of the district, on the body of Robert Trew, an old main about 60 years of age, who had been found drowned in a dam at Sauly Creek, about three miles from Dubbo. From the evidence address, who had been found drowned in a dam at Sauly Creek, about three miles from Dubbo. From the evidence addressed, it seemed that the deceased, who was engaged drawing split-stuff for fencing, was lest seen by a Mrs. Lee on the bank of the dam. He was singing out, but she could not well understand what he said. This was about fallings to clock in the day. The next thing seen of deceased was noticed by a man who passed by the dam. He noticed a hat floating on the water, and, suspecting that some accident had happened, he made search and discovered deceased drowned. It is thought Frow had an epileptic fit and fell into the water. The verdict of the jury was that the deceased had been drowned, but there was no evidence to show how he fell into the dam.

Death from Scalding.—An infant son of Mr. A. M'Rae, of Shannon Vale, died from injuries through falling into a pot of boiling water. In preparing dimor (the Glen Junes Eraminer states) Mrs. M'Rae had occasion to leave the child, which is about twelve months old, in the kitchen unprotected, and during her absence the little innocent contrived to toddle to a vessel which had Just been used to boil some beef. In its innocence, the child plunged its hands into the traceherous liquid, and both those members were dreadfully scalded.

Messars, Gustav Ebell and Co's Berlin wool circular of January 30 says:—

The high prices pand for wool in the London November series have to be attributed to a paucity of stock and a general anticipation of a reture of lucrative maninateuring after a long period of singgists and unprofitable trade. And indeed some signs of a general improvement were perceptible, and as the Oriental difficulty appeared to be on a lair way to a penceful settlement, sanguine hopes appeared not unreasonable, although such an important rise as took place in October-November was in no way warranted by the then state of trade. The market for woollen goods and yams has not been able to follow the upward movement. Of the raw material; tops and yams sed general complaints are heard again, that purchases, made in the last Condon selfes, lover no posit but loss to the unaunateure, and dealers cannot clear their dearly bought wools without loss. River Plate wools, of which the new season's clip begins to arrive how, were sold cheaper already at the end of December, and the first this year's greate wools, of which the first hardy care's late at large of the lifeth instant, established a fall of 5 per cast, on superior line, and of 10 per cent, on average llucenos Ayres greates wool. DOMESTIC ECONOMY
JUDSON'S DYES. "The process being so clean and simple, there appears no reason why every lady should not be her own dyer, or why dyeing-day should not, in every well-regulated family, be as common and much more agreeable than washing-day. Any young lady could begin her experiment on a ribbon or feather in a basin of water, and proceed afterwards to larger articles of dress in a breat-pan or foot-bath. The thing would be worth trying from motives of economy."— Vide "Coased"s Household Guide," Marzh, 1872.

SCARBOROUGH, NORTH AND SOUTH. The attention of the public is directed to the following The attention of the public is directed to the following facts:—

1. That Lady Robinson's Beach (in the immediate vicinity of Sydney) is one of the most becautiful and magnificent beaches in the colony, if not in the world.

2. That when Lady Robinson's Beach is joined to Sydney by a railway (which is a more question of time). Searborough will be only about fifteen minutes from the centre of the city.

brough will be only about fifteen minutes from the centre of the city.

3. That the beach of the Australian Scarborough is incompribly superior to that of the English Scarborough, but the latter has annually its tens of thousands of visitors, because it has boarding-houses, and hotels to an immense extent (the Grand Hotel alone having cost £290,000), whereas, connected with this magnificent botch, there are only two hotels (Sandringham and Sans South), at which, although excellent, the accommodation is limited, and, for want of room, the proprieters are frequently obliged to turn away many of the most highly-respectable families.

4. That the advantages of a marine residence for children cannot possibly be over-estimated. There are no dectors equal to the promenades on a sea beach, and the breezes from the sext and there is incessant amusement in picking up the fresh shells that are brought in by each tide.

5. That the undersigned have received instructions to sell every lot offered and bid for, so that it is just possible that there may be some allotments sacrificed, and which will in a very short time be worth ten or twenty times the prices paid for them.

6. That the object has been to make North and South

there may be some allotments sacrificed, and which will in a very short time be worth ten or twenty times the prices paid for them.

6. That the object has been to make North and South Scarborough a model town or city, as will be seen from the grand wide streets, boulevards, and esplanade of 2 and 3 chains (132 and 198 feet) in width.

7. That the terms are exceedingly liberal—one-fourth cash, and the residue by promissory notes in equal instalments at 1, 2, and 3 years, WITHOUT INTEREST. A discount at the rafe of 5 per cent, per annum will be allowed on all payments before the bills become due.

8. That the sale will take place at the Rooms of the undersigned on FRIDAY, 6th APRIL (unless the entire property be previously sold by private contract in one let, of which immediate notice will be given).

RESERVE FOR PUBLIC RECREATION, which, under the direction of its able trustees, has within the last few months been greatly improved, and laid out in judiciously-selected walks and pleasant places for picnic parties without destroying the rugged—and in many parts romantic—scenery, which, even in its wild state, has made the noted GAP and its vicinity the favourite resert of our holiday-loving public for long years past.

BEACONSVILLE is naturally formed into well-marked terraces, its highest point being on the South Head Road, adjoining the South Head Hotel, from whence, by terrace after terrace, it gradually descends to the bay, as previously described. Advantage has been taken of these natural features of the land, and in laving out the present subdivision it has been so arranged that each allotment has a choice site for the erection of a villa, or for terraces of houses with ample ground frunt and back for garden purposes; each terrace onjoys its peculiar advantages, the highest commanding one of the most delightful of the Harbour viewa looking citywards, that can be obtained, while the lower parts, though equally beautifully situated, but with less extensive view, are snugly sheltered from the strong southerly and south-cast winds. Altogether, this estate can hardly be surpassed for the benefits it onjoys from its delightful position, and its casy access to the city, being only little more than half an hour's drive by the most favourite road out of Sydney, and having the Watson's Bay Steamers plying between it and Circular Quay several times a day.
